1.7 20+ Entrants | Teams | Competitors

For tournaments with 20+ competitors/teams, follow the above examples and continue it exponentially.

Important: An event organizer may choose to run a losers bracket or “silver” tier pool, but these matches will not count towards League Points.

2. How to break ties

Step one (1)

Only in 2 competitor/teams tie

2.1 Head-to-Head Results:

These criteria prioritize direct competition outcomes. If the teams or competitors have faced each other, the winner of that match is given precedence.

Action: Check the results of the match between the two tied teams/competitors if such a match occurred during this segment of the tournament. The team or competitor who won this match is the winner.

Step two (2) if the tie was not resolved with 2.1

2.2 Round Victories vs. Losses or Hits Earned vs. Hits Received:

For Buhurt and Buckler, the focus is on the overall performance in rounds, emphasizing consistent success in matches.

For Other Duels, the ratio of hits emphasizes skill in both offense and defense, giving a balanced view of performance.

Action: Use the appropriate difference or ratio based on the type of event:

Buhurt and Buckler: Compare the difference between round victories and losses. This is found in Column G (Win-Ratio).

Other Duels: Compare the ratio of hits earned to hits received. This is found in Column S (Hits Earned / Hits Received) on the scoresheet.

Step three (3) if the tie was not resolved with 2.2

2.3 Active vs Downed Competitors:

This metric provides insight into team durability and effectiveness in maintaining active competitors throughout the tournament, highlighting strategic strength.

Action: Evaluate the difference between active competitors at the end of each round and downed competitors at the end of each round during the tournament. This is reflected in the S-G Difference (Active vs. Grounded difference) on the event result sheet.

Step four (4) if the tie was not resolved with 2.3

2.4 Penalties Received:

Penalties reflect rule adherence and sportsmanship. Fewer penalties indicate better discipline and fairness, which are valued in the competition

Action: Consider the number of penalties received during the tournament. The team or competitor with the fewest penalties is the winner.
